POWERS IS JUBILANT.

At Last A Ray of Hope

Appears in the Horizon, After Five and One-Half Years of Patient Waiting.

Judge Cochran Decides That Caleb Powers Has Been Denied the Equal Protection of the Law in the State Court and Orders his Case Transferred to The Federal Court for Trial.

STATE APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT.

JUDGE A. M. J. COCHRAN of the Eastern district of the Kentucky Federal Court handed down his opinion last Friday at Maysville, in the Caleb Powers case. It was a very lengthy one and required two hours in the reading and discussion of the case and the announcement of his findings.

The Court holds that the prosecution against Caleb Powers, pending in the Scott Circuit Court has been removed to the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky by the institution of removal proceedings in Powers' behalf under Section 641 of the United States Revised Statutes, and sustains Powers' motion for a writ of habeas corpus to transfer his custody from that of the State of Kentucky to that of the United States.

The chief ground upon which the court bases its decision is that it appears from the petition for removal and the transcript of the record in the state courts that the defendant has been and is denied the equal protection of the laws by the Scott Circuit

Court, and cannot enforce his right thereto in the state Court of Appeals because of Section 281 of the criminal code, as construed by the court.

The Court further holds that the decision of the state courts against the validity of the pardon issued by Governor Taylor to Powers is not a good ground for removal to the United States Court, as the latter is bound by the decision and the validity thereof cannot be properly questioned under the application of the clause of the fourteenth amendment, guaranteeing equal protection under the laws.

Judge Cochran in the course of his decision said:

"In the decision to take jurisdiction my action is not final. Application can be made by the State to the Supreme Court for a mandamus commanding me to restore the defendant to the State's custody and the whole question can be decided for all time to come."

When the special term of the Scott Circuit Court was called Monday morning at Georgetown, Caleb Powers was brought into court and when the order was read transferring him to the Campbell County jail Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin offered a motion that the case be continued until the United States Supreme Court passes on the opinion rendered by Judge Cochran. The motion was sustained and court adjourned.

United States marshal Steven G. Sharp arrived at 10:30 o'clock from Covington and took Mr. Powers to Newport in the afternoon and placed him in charge of jailer Ben Ploegel of the Newport jail. Mr. Powers was given the largest and best lighted room in the building and will receive every attention that he could ask.

To a Post reporter Mr. Powers said: "I have always felt that I would ultimately get my freedom—that no conviction would stand. When the Judge pronounced the death sentence after my last conviction it was to me just as if he were saying words of the most ordinary meaning—or even less, for I felt sure the sentence would never be executed. If, however, justice had miscarried and I had had to go to my death, I should have faced my execution with as little concern as I did the Judge who rendered that sentence. For I would have been strong in the consciousness of my innocence.

"But I know I shall never die on the gallows, and I am just as confident that I will finally go free. How soon that day will come I do not know, but it will come. I never slept better than I did on the day I was sentenced to death. I have never yet had a fair trial; the juries have all been packed with prejudiced men. Now I believe I shall get a fair trial before the Federal Court. The juries there cannot be packed. I have been in jail more than five years but my time has not been idly spent. Between exercising several hours a day, eating, sleeping and writing my life story and answering correspondence, my days have been busy ones. It was not till May that I finished my autobiography, and have thus been able to put my case before the people in its fullest detail.

How many thousands my case has cost I know not. My friends—and there are a legion of them I have never met—have rallied nobly to my aid in my fight for life.

Attorney General Hays and Commonwealth Attorney Franklin will carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court on appeal from United States Judge Cochran's decision to grant me a U. S. Court trial. They are also preparing a mandamus suit for the United States Supreme Court against Judge Cochran to force him to return me to the Kentucky courts for trial. But they will not succeed, for Judge Cochran's decision is based on the constitutional right of every United States citizen to a fair trial.

Even should I lose in the U. S. Supreme Court and the case be sent back to the State courts for trial, that would not end my fight for freedom. The Kentucky Court of Appeals has reversed my last conviction and ordered a new trial, so that my fight in the Kentucky courts would simply begin all over again where it first started.

While in has been a mooted question as to whether or not the State court would attempt to resist the Federal Court as to the possession of my person, the question is now at rest. I am glad to get into the hands of the Federal authorities. It is my information that it is a good jail at Newport and a splendid man for jailer.

I know that many of my best friends live in that part of the State and I am glad to have the opportunity of seeing them again even though it be from behind the bars. Whatever success may crown this final struggle for liberty, I owe it all to my friends, who have so loyally stood by me for five years in every section of the Union, and especially in Kentucky, making it possible for me to keep up this long-drawn-out fight."

Upon arrival at the Newport jail, Mayor Helmbolt, with a gang of police, interfered with the jailer and his assistants, to prevent them from placing Mr. Powers in a cell that had been arranged by his friends for his comfort. A fight followed in which the Mayor lost two front teeth, and the entire jail crew were placed under arrest.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of Mayor Helmbolt and two policemen, charging

However, those preparing to teach, and young teachers wanting a thorough comprehension and mastery of these studies are urged to take an Entire Year. It pays well to have a Good Beginning.

For Teachers preparing for State Certificates and State Diplomas, we offer unparalleled opportunities. Few indeed would be the teachers who would not avail themselves of these if they only understood with what small expense of time and labor they would be acquired while they continue teaching. Every true teacher has a Professional Spirit that urges him to be his BEST. Let us help you be this.

This Department is under the Principals' supervision and personal instruction of who is recognized by the best of educators as an artist in his business.

It was because of his special fitness, and large experience in this particular line of work that the Board of Education has secured his services in this Department. The fact that the Board of Education spares no expense in the selection of the Faculty in Union College, is an evidence of the character of the WORK that WILL BE DONE.

"The mills of the Gods grind slowly but the grind exceedingly fine."

For five and one half years Caleb Powers has been battling for life against great odds and three times he has heard the verdict of "guilty" pronounced against him by a "packed jury" who were expected to write that verdict regardless of the evidence in the case. Each time the Court of Appeals has reversed the verdict and remanded it back saying that Powers had been denied a fair trial.

Finally realizing that it was impossible to secure a fair trial in the State Court a motion was made before the Federal Court to transfer the case to that court for trial and after all the facts were submitted to his honor, Judge Cochran decided to take jurisdiction and if upheld by the Supreme Court the case will be tried some time this fall or early winter in that court.

After hoping and trying for five years to get a fair trial by the State Court it became necessary to resort to the Federal Court to strip this case of politics.

It was hoped all along that the fever of political passion would subside and that it would become possible for Mr. Powers to secure a fair trial before the State Court, but it seemed that there was no further hope along that line and it was finally decided by his Counsel to resort to the Federal Court for redress.

Some contended that it was not a case as would permit it to be tried in the Federal Court but Judge Cochran saw it differently and took jurisdiction and the case will now come before him for trial.

We believe that it is best that the United States Court has taken jurisdiction of this case. It is a Kentucky court as well as a Federal court; its Judge is a Kentuckian born and bred; its officers are Kentuckians, who have served their State and their country well; its juries will be composed of citizens of Kentucky, who must have the same qualifications that jurors in a State Court have, it is not a foreign court; it is in no way a hostile court; its officers and the jurors who will serve on it, have lived and will continue to live in Kentucky; its Judge does not depend upon popular sunderage for the retention of his office; he cannot have any other desires than to do his duty and win for himself a reputation for fairness and for learning and ability. Before him the trial will be fair and impartial. From any appeal to the Circuit Court of the United States on which three of the most distinguished jurists of the Middle West sit. From their decision an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, the most august tribunal in the civilized world, can be had.

The result of the trial will be watched with the keenest interest, not only by Kentuckians, but by citizens of every State in the Union. The judge presiding, whose only hope for advancement is the winning of a national reputation for learning and impartiality, will know that his every decision will be watched with critical eye, by lawyers of every bar in America. We hope and believe the result of the trial will be such that it will be accepted by every man who wants justice done. No man fit to call himself a Kentuckian wants Powers hung if he is innocent; every honest man wants Powers convicted if he is guilty.

This will give him an opportunity to establish his innocence and show to the world how he has been compelled to suffer for political purposes.

The action of Mayor Helmbold of Newport last Monday evening in trying to interfere with the Federal authorities was disgraceful in the extreme and tends to show to what extremes a Goebette will go to further their own ends.

It was none of his business where the Federal authorities placed Mr. Powers and we hope before he is out of this scrape he will learn a lesson that he will not soon forget.

Keep in mind the fact that the proposition will be submitted this fall to you to say whether or not we shall have a new court house.

Dr. Easley said in a talk last Sunday morning at the Methodist Church, "The public buildings of the town are an index to the prosperity and thrift of the town." When a stranger enters the town the first thing that attracts his attention is the public buildings. If we have a good court-house and jail, good churches and college buildings, a good impression is made at once. If they are poor, a bad impression is formed. What do you suppose a stranger must think of the citizens of Knox county when they get a glimpse of our old rat harbor, called the Court-house?

Let's no longer block the road to progress, but let's have that new court-house and have it without delay.

The heaviest tax-payers in the county are for it and surely if they can favor it why should little short tax-payers who would never know there was any tax levied for the bonds be against the proposition. Let's keep abreast of the times and erect a court-house for Knox county that will stand as a monument to her credit for the next fifty years to come.

EXCURSIONS TO THE WEST

To the Pacific Coast—to California, Oregon, Washington—round-trip, long transit and return limits, liberal stop-over privileges.

The rate is practically on the basis of one fare for the round trip. Of course, if you wish to visit both California and Oregon or Washington, the cost is slightly more.

These reduced rates are in effect on certain dates in months of May to October, inclusive. They apply from all Eastern points via Chicago, St. Louis or Memphis gateways. The Rock Island System will take you up in either Chicago or St. Louis, or at hundreds of other Middle West points and carry you to the Coast in through Standard or Tourist Sleepers with unexcelled Dining Car service. The Rock Island also affords a choice of routes: on the "Scenic" route you can stop off in Colorado—see Salt Lake City—visit Yellowstone National Park; on the "Southern" route you can go via El Paso, thru New Mexico, then "up coast" to San Francisco and on to Portland or Seattle if desired.

In short, these Pacific Coast excursions offer an unusually good chance to see our western country in a comprehensive manner.

If you desire to go only as far as Colorado, there are excursion rates in effect to that section and return, all summer long, specially reduced June 30 to July 4, August 12 and 13, and August 30 to September 4. Extension trips to Ogden or Salt Lake and return at low cost also.

From September 15 to October 31, 1905, one-way tourist or "colonist" tickets will be on sale to California and the Pacific Northwest—about half regular fare.

If interested, send name and address on this coupon, designating which booklet wanted and to what point you plan to go. Name probable date of start also, so we can advise definitely with respect to rates, etc.

PRESS ASSOCIATION

Mee's at Crab Orchard for Annual Outing on July 24-31.

Half Rates Secured for Members.

The Kentucky Press Association will hold its annual outing this year at Crab Orchard Springs, beginning on July 24th and last for a full week.

Crab Orchard is in Lincoln county on the Knoxville branch of the L. & N. Ry., 73 miles north of Barbourville and 20 miles east from Junction City.

Through Editor Woods of Richmond, half rates have been obtained at the Springs for Editors and their families as long as they desire to remain the rate will be only one dollar per day. There will be a free banquet on Tuesday night and a free ball on Wednesday night in honor of the Association.

THIRD STORY

To be Added to the Administration Building of Union College.

It is now an assured fact that the third story will be added to the Administration building of Union College which means that there will be more elaborate and thorough training in the various departments than ever before. Other new features will be added to this school. New Chemical and Physical Laboratories will occupy this new story to be added and Union College will begin the present term better equipped than ever before.

We invite the attention of our readers to the ad which appears elsewhere in this issue and will say in conclusion if you are thinking of attending College this year you can do no better than at Union College.

Enjoyable Dance

One of the most enjoyable dances in Barbourville for some time was that given Wednesday night by Mrs. John G. Matthews and some of the young men of the town in honor of out-of-town visitors. The dance occurred in large hall on the third floor of the First National Bank building and the local orchestra made the music. There were about 50 guests, probably half of whom were visitors in Barbourville. Dancing was from 9:30 to 2.

Good News to Teachers.

State Supt. of Public Instruction Fuqua has announced that the school per capita for the School year ending June 1906, will be $3.25.

This is the highest record ever made in Kentucky. It is based on an estimate of resources of the school fund fixed at $2,422,000 and upon census reports of 721,000 children in school age in the State.

Teachers' Institute.

The Knox County Teachers' Institute has been in session throughout the entire week, has been largely attended and much interest has been shown throughout the meeting.

Prof. K. M. Shipps has had charge of the Institute and has given some very interesting as well as amusing features to the entertainment. An evening session was held Wednesday evening and another one last evening, which were largely attended. A number of good talks were listened to during the week which will prove beneficial to the teachers as they go out into the work. Altogether the Institute has proven a very pleasant affair to all who have had the pleasure of attending.

Don't forget Hammar paint if you want paint. It is guaranteed for five years. Hammar paint don't cost any more than ordinary mixed paint. Hammar paint is not a mixed paint. One gallon of Hammar paint and one gallon of pure boiled linseed oil makes two gallons of the best mixed paint on earth.

Don't be persuaded that ordinary mixed paint is as good as the Old Reliable Hammar Paint. If you do you will regret it; but you can't say that it is Cole's fault. Investigate Hammar paint before buying.

ROBERT W. COLE.

THE CUMBERLAND.

Arranging to Come Into Barbourville.

The Cumberland Railroad Company is pressing work on the new extension from Artemus up Brush creek ten miles, and the Cumberland Coal Company is making tests of the coal veins along the route. Within two years or such a matter these people will have some two thousand men at work on their holdings in this county.

This means much to Knox county and to this city; more in fact than the people of the town that has never been affected greatly by the coal interests of adjacent territory can realize at a glance. This city has a future and the coal interests of this county will make that future a great one. The people of Barbourville have to look to coal for wealth as far as the natural resources are concerned, for the once prosperous looking oil field of the county has failed to come up to expectations, not only because the oil was not to be had, but because only a very few efficient operators ever saw it. It was ruined by grafters who organized companies with no intention of ever selling the product of their wells.

It is understood upon good and reliable authority that the Cumberland Railroad Company, when it completed its line, will make an effort to get an agreement with the Louisville and Nashville whereby it can run its trains from the terminus of its line on the Lunenburg farm Brush creek, past Artemus to this city. The company is a common carrier, and if such arrangements are made it will run two trains daily. What this would mean to Barbourville is very evident. The business of the two companies would be carried on from here; many of the officials, operators and workmen would no doubt reside here; the capitalists interested would rent or build office buildings here; the people of the southern part of the county would be in immediate touch with town and market; what would be true of the Cumberland Railroad and Cumberland Coal Companies would be true of all the other companies that will open mines along the line of the extension; Barbourville would soon reach the 5,000 mark set by the ADVOCATE.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

The path of life runs so crooked that we cannot see around the curves.

The home is the place where all the joys of life may exist in all their ripest fruition.

The leaving of home is an experience in one's life freighted with momentous consequence.

MOTHER! your life is not insignificant. It is not and cannot be isolated from universal significance, for your boy shall bear it into the great tide that never ebbs.

EVERY soul in the universe lives alone. There is a dark curtain dropped before the windows of the house which hides it from the view of all. Every one has felt this loneliness even in the midst of crowds.

WITHOUT a fireside, man's domestic nature, from which he derives by far the largest amount of his earthly enjoyment, cannot but remain cold and almost entirely inactive. This department of his nature can be kept alive only by the best of the hearthstone.

THERE is something grand and inspiring in a young man who fails squarely, after doing his level best and then enters the contest again and again with undaunted courage and redoubled energy. We have no fear for the youth who is not disheartened at failure.

THE world, it is said, is always looking for men who are not for sale; men who are honest, sound from center to circumference, true to the hearts core; men whose consciences are as steady as the needle to the pole; men who will stand for the right if the heavens totter and the earth reels; men who can tell the truth and look the world and the devil right in the eye; men that neither brag nor run; men that neither flag nor flinch; men who can have courage without shouting to it; men in whom the courage of everlasting life runs still deep and strong; men who know their message and tell it; men who know their places and fill them; men who know their own business and attend to it; men who will not lie, shirk nor dodge; men who are not too lazy to work, not too proud to be poor; men who are willing to eat what they have earned and wear what they have paid for; men who are not afraid to say "No" with emphasis, and who are not afraid to say "I can't afford it." We have a large number of boys growing up in this community who will make just such men and also not a few who will make the opposite. Young men in which class shall we register your name?

ABUSE OF PUBLIC TRUSTS.

Our daily papers are now filled with details of corruption in public places. The most prominent one in the land are being tried for abuse and "graft." The cities of Philadelphia and Chicago are just now furnishing us some object lessons. Young men who read the daily papers will naturally think that to be a leader of men one has to be corrupt. Such is not the case. There is not a land on earth which has so many moral men in authority as this land. There is not a session of legislature or congress but in it are thoroughly good and honest men—men whose fingers never touched a bribe, whose cheek has never been flushed with intoxication, whose tongue has never been smitten of blasphemy or stung of a lie. These times are not half so bad as times that are gone.

ers are preparing their mowing machines for the harvest.

Oats are harvested and a fair crop is reported.

We know this from the fact that Aaron Burr, a man filled with iniquity until he could hold no more, was a member of the legislature, then attorney-general, then a senator of the United States, then Vice-president and then came in one vote of the highest position in this nation. More than a half a century ago the governor of New York had to adjourn the legislature because it was so corrupt to sit in council. There is a tendency at the present time to extort the past to the disadvantage of the present, and we have a right to think taking the past as a guide, that sixty years from now there may be persons who will represent some of us as angels, although now things are so unpromising and we see much corruption in high places. But the evils of the past are no excuse for the public wickedness of to day. Those of us who occupy editorial chairs should not hold back the truth. If we keep back the truth what will we do in the day when the Lord rises up in judgment and we are tried not only for what we have said, but for what we have declined to say.

When we open up the scroll of public wickedness we find incompetent men in office. It is no sin to be ignorant of medicine but if ignorant of medical science it is a sin to place yourself among professional men and trifle with the lives of others. Our statesmen are more wise than in former years. At one time in the congress of the United States a tariff was placed upon linseed oil and another tariff upon flaxseed oil, and those wise congressmen did not know that they were both one and the same oil. We have had and still have a few in our legislature, who did not know whether to vote yes or not until they received the sign from their leader. Incompetency in office is one of the greatest crimes of our day, but we are improving. The senators who were more celebrated for their drunkenness than for their statesmanship are dead or compelled to stay at home. Bribery is cursing this land. Some of the finest houses of our cities are built out of money paid for votes in the legislature. But with all the rottenness that exists we are growing better and if the mothers of this land will spend more evenings with their sons than they do at clubs, and read them the Home Circle Column in this paper, and other good reading matter, we may look for greater improvements in the moral standing of our great leaders in every walk of life.
